From: GovTech Today
To: Lyle Martin
Subject: Is Space the Next Frontier for Innovation in Gov Tech?
Date: Friday, May 3, 2019 7:32:10 AM

GOVTECH TODAY

MAY 3, 2019

Are you tired of the status quo? Connect with peers from around the country at the Summit on Government Performance and Innovation.

Is Space the Next Frontier for Innovation in Gov Tech?

Space launches have gotten a lot cheaper and satellites have gotten a lot smaller. These two things combined mean we're entering an age where space can factor in to service delivery for government READ MORE

CONTENT PROVIDED BY SERVICENOW

Cloud IT Service Management System Saves Utah Millions

Cloud-based IT service management system — including a new asset management function — saves state of Utah millions of dollars, boosts department revenues and keeps technology running for thousands of state workers.

READ MORE

OTHER TOP STORIES

California Proposal Would Curb Smart Speaker Snooping

A bill being considered in the state Legislature would penalize companies that used Internet of Things devices to eavesdrop on consumers without their permission. READ MORE

What's New in Civic Tech: Knight Foundation Invests in Miami

Plus, New Orleans launches a device repair clinic; the National Digital Inclusion Alliance has a website supporting the Digital Equity Act; 2019 Innovation in American Government Award open for nominations; and more. READ MORE

QUESTION OF THE DAY

What did a drone just deliver for the first time?

ANSWER

CONTENT PROVIDED BY SPECTRUM

Top Intelligently Connected Stories

This collection of Government Technology's top networking stories shows how states and localities are implementing intelligent and connected technologies to improve the lives of their constituents and better their communities. Download to read more.

DOWNLOAD NOW

MORE HEADLINES

DHS to Assess Risks Posed to Ballot-Marking Devices

Minnesota House, Senate Face $40M Divide on Broadband Funding

N.Y. Brownsville Tenants Push Back on Facial Recognition Plan

Henderson County, N.C., Mourns Sudden Loss of IT Director

Can New Tech Reinvigorate Lakeland, Fla.'s Transit System?

Police Explore Potential for UAVs in Howard County, Md.

Good Health Care Increasingly Requires Good Internet Service

A New Commission Will Address the Threat of Job Automation

EDITOR'S CHOICE

West Hollywood Launches Tech-Laden Transit Shelters

Dude Solutions Buys NET's Energy Management Platform

Micro-Mobility Is Here to Stay — Cities Should Act Accordingly

INDUSTRY RESOURCES

Safeguarding Our Election Infrastructure

Lexington Moves to the Cloud for Modern, Sustainable Back-

Office Operations

Dynamic ID Card Design Guide

MORE PAPERS

Subscribe / Facebook / Twitter / YouTube

This email was sent to lmartin@bakersfieldpd.us.
Unsubscribe | Opt out of all e.Republic email | Privacy Statement
© 2019 e.Republic. All rights reserved. 100 Blue Ravine Rd, Folsom, CA 95630, USA. Phone: 916-932-1300